PREFACE.

AFTER a considerable delay, and with no slight hesitation, I launch a further volume, on the serial principle, of my BIBLIOGRAPHY, which now looks back so far as 1867, when the Handbook appeared. Much of that pioneer has since been superseded by later discoveries; but much yet retains its original value and authority. The present may be safely taken absolutely to represent my last essay in this direction. I cannot afford to spend any more money in printing my labours, and as I live in England, and not in Germany or Russia, it is useless to expect help from the Government even for a purpose of so national a character and compass. Mine is not a bare list of titles, but an account accompanied by literary notices, and in important cases quotations of prices. But the revolution in the book market of late years, owing to American competition, renders such particulars, as a rule, of doubtful utility. At the same time, the difficulty of obtaining certain classes of early literature may be treated as an argument in favour of what Charles Lamb, in a letter to Charles Ollier, terms "Books about Books."

I have the pleasure and the honour of acknowledging myself indebted for assistance in my researches in London, at Oxford and Cambridge, at Manchester, Salisbury, Exeter, Peterborough, York, Edinburgh, and elsewhere, to a considerable number of gentlemen, no less than to the leading members of the book trade and auctioneers. I hope that the subjoined list is not very incomplete or (as it were) ungrateful:—

London.

The Staff of the Printed Book Department, British Museum, particularly Mr. Fortescue, Mr. Miller, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Barwick, Mr. Proctor, Mr. Davenport, and Mr. Pollard.

Dr. Williams's Library, Gordon Square.

York Minster.

Canon Watson.

Salisbury and Exeter Cathedrals.

The Canons in residence.

Ireland.

Mr. E. R. McClintock Dix, of Dublin.

Since 1893, when my last contribution to this subject was published, many important libraries and parcels of books, notably the Ashburnham, have come into the market, and I may affirm that all have paid me toll.

A speciality of the heavy and varied instalment here offered is the appreciable number of hitherto undiscovered works for the first time catalogued from fragments more or less sufficiently adequate to the formation of a knowledge of the entire volume or tract.

The impression has been most strictly limited to ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY COPIES.

Putticks, May 5, 1898, No. 241, signs. O—P deficient.

Æsop's Fables. . . . 1687. Folio.

Copies seem to vary; and this impression was partly made up from the prior one of 1666—at least in some cases. The English verses beneath the plates were from the pen of Mrs. Behn. In a copy before me the leaf "To the Reader," occupied in the Huth one by an engraving, is blank; and the book, commencing with the Life of Æsop in Latin and French, makes B—Ppp, 2 leaves each.

Fables of Æsop. . . . By Sir Roger L'Estrange, Kt. London, Printed by R. Sare, . . . 1692. Folio. Portrait of L'Estrange and frontispiece, 2 ll: A—B, 2 ll: each: (a)—(b) in fours: (c) 6 ll: d, 4 ll: B—3 Q in fours.

The Morall Fabillis of Esope the Phrygian. . . . 4°, 1570.

The Britwell copy may be the same, which occurs in the Auction Catalogue of Sir Andrew Balfour, M.D., sold at Edinburgh in 1695. This Scottish version is contained in Bannatyne's MS., 1568, part V.

AFRICA.

Strange Newes out of Affrick.

A work in defence of the stage, written, and possibly or probably printed, before 1579, as it is cited in Gosson's Ephemerides of Phialo, published in that year. It purports to have been written by a Doctor on the proverb, "Africa semper aliquid oportet novi."

AGRIPPA, CORNELIUS HENRY,

born at Cologne in 1486.

The Commendation of Matrimony. . . . 1545.

There is an earlier version by John Harington, printed by John Scotin in St. Paul's Churchyard, 12°, 1528. A copy is in the Huth library. This work is said to have been originally written in 1520 in compliment to Margaret of Austria.

The Vanity of Arts and Sciences. . . . London, Printed by R. Everingham for R. Bentley . . . and Dan. Brown. . . . 1694. 8°, A—Aa in eights and the title.

AINSWORTH, HENRY.

An Arrow against Idolatry. Taken out of the Quiver of the Lord of Hosts. By Henry Ainsworth. [Quot. from Psalm 119, 31.] Nova Belgia, Printed 1640. 8°, A—H 7 in eights. B M.

The Imprint is singularly curious, since it has not the aspect of being a fictitious or fanciful one. The book seems to have been printed out of England, yet it hardly presents the appearance of continental origin. There are numerous misprints indicating carelessness or inexperience. The present separate edition was posthumous, Ainsworth having died at Amsterdam in 1622-3. Most or all of his works were published there with his name and that of the printer. Nova Belgia may be rendered New Netherlands, and New York was known as New Amsterdam under its Dutch masters from about 1614. When this volume appeared, no printing is likely to have existed outside a central locality. There is no reason why the work should not have been set up at New York by some admirer of Ainsworth in the New World—perhaps one of his friends and disciples in Amsterdam who had emigrated. Somewhat in the same way we possess an isolated example of printing at Cambridge, N.E., and in the same year, not only without a printer's name, but without an indication of the place.

AITZEMA, LION.

Notable Revolutions, being A true Relation of what hap'ned in the United Provinces of the Netherlands In the years MDCL and MDCLII. Somewhat before and after the Death of the late Prince of Orange. According to the Dutch copie collected and published at the Hague 1651. . . . London, Printed by William Du-gard, by the Appointment of the Council of State, Anno 1653. Folio. Title and preface, 2 leaves: (a) — (e 2) in fours. B—4 U 2 in fours.

See Evelyn's Diary, ed. 1858, i., 19, Note.

ALANUS AB INSULIS.

Parabolarum Alani cum commento. [The rest of the page is occupied by a woodcut of a scholar seated before a bench with books. Col.] *Liber parabolarum Alani cum glosa fuit feliciter Impressum Londōn. Anno. M.D.XLVII. Per me J. B. 8^o, a, 4 ll: A—B 7 in eights.

In this very rare little treatise the author gives a summary of the doctrine held by those of the "new learning," as they were called, more especially so far as regards the two Sacraments. The tract has been attributed to Bp. Bale, but the language is too temperate, and the statement of doctrine too moderate, for it to be likely that it proceeded from him. Being put forth when Henry VIII.'s Six Articles were in force, it is not surprising that the writer concealed his name, and that few copies of the book escaped destruction.—F. S. Ellis's Catalogue.

Very Sm. 8°, A—Mm in twelves: Concordance, by John Downame, A—E in twelves. The title is an architectural compartment, and the three divisions of the volume have separate titles.

The copy before me, sold in a bundle at Sotheby's in 1901, has on the fly-leaf the coeval mark of price —7/. It is in the original blue morocco binding excellently preserved and enclosed, apparently from the date of publication, in a leather case. This is, it seems to me, the earliest English pocket Bible, and precedes the Pearl Bible, printed at Cambridge, by two years; the type is remarkably small and equally clear, and we have here the model, which suggested to the University printer his later undertaking.

Editions of the Scriptures printed by the Society of Stationers are as rare as those of the Psalms are the reverse. But this was the Cromwell regime.

An Biobla Naomhtha. . . . A Lunnduin, . . . R. Ebberingham, . . . 1690. 8°, A—Ll 4 in twelves + title: New Testament, with a fresh title, A—L in twelves.

BRATHWAITE, RICHARD.

The Good Wife: Or, A rare one amongst Women. Whereto is annexed an Exquisite Discourse of Epitaphs: Including the choicest thereof, Ancient or Moderne. Ixor bona chara supeller. Mvsophilvs. At London Printed for Richard Redmer, and are to be sold at his shop at the West end of S. Pauls Church. 1618. 8°. A, 4 leaves, A 1 blank: B—L 4 in eights, L 4 blank. In prose and verse. Bodleian, and Britwell (the Dering copy).

The Remains after Death commence with a separate title on C 2, as follows:—Remains after Death: Including by way of introduction diuers memorable obseruations occasioned vpon discourse of Epytaphs and Epycedes; their distinction and definition seconded by aproned Authors. Annexed there be diuers select Epitaphs and Hearce-attending Epods worthie our obseruation. The one describing what they were which now are not: The other comparing such as now are with those that were. Dignum laude virum musa vetat mori. Mvsophilvs. Imprinted at London by Iohn Beale. 1618.

Sothely's, Nov. 29, 1897, No. 344, old calf, with the Dering arms in gold on sides, £62. This copy, as well as that at Oxford, has on A 4 v° a catchword The, to which nothing on B 1 (the next leaf) corresponds; possibly some matter was suppressed. I am informed by Mr. F. Madan that the Bodleian copy may have been in the library ever since the date of publication. There is a second copy there slightly damaged, and a third containing only the Remains after Death.

On L 3 v° occurs a table of Errata, applying only to the matter following sign. B 1. The author states that the errors were occasioned by his absence from the press in consequence of some hurt or injury; but he promises to amend the faults in the next impression.

Britains Bath. 1625.

This work is mentioned in a marginal note to the dedication of the Surety of History, 1638, and seems to have been an elegy on the death of James I., accompanied by one on that of the Earl of Southampton. Brathwaite refers to this work as "extant," but does not say that it was printed.

The Huntsmans Raunge.

A treatise noticed as having been written before 1630, in a marginal note to the English Gentleman, 1630. Not known in type. See Hazlitt's ed. of Brathwaite's Barnaby Rannerium, 1876, 89-90.

debat B. Took, Cesariae Majestatis Typographus, . . . 1686. Sm. 8º, A—D in eights.

Communicated by Mr. McDix of Dublin

This appears to be the book mentioned as Pueriles in Lyly's Puppe with an Hatchet. Brinsley, perhaps, as in other cases, and in common with others, as we see, after him, only re-edited it.
The edition of 1617, the earliest which I have so far seen, may be that mentioned in the inventory of the stock of John Foster of York, 1616 (Davies, York Press, 1868, p. 360), as books were sometimes dated forward.

BRISTOL.

A Relation Strange and true, Of a Ship of Bristol named the Jacob, of 120. Tunnes, which was about the end of Octob. last 1621 taken by the Turkish Pirats of Argier.

On B 1 occurs: "On the Early, but happy death, of the very Hopefull young Gentleman, my once
most dear, and Honourd friend, George Pitt, Esq; Dying of an Hereditary Consumption at 17 yeares of age," which occupies, with his Epitaph, the rest of the volume. This latter portion was bound up with the first piece in the copy employed; but it is slightly uncertain whether it belongs to it or not; at left-hand top corner occurs: By Clem. Ellis in an early, if not coeval hand. Sotheby's, Feb. 6, 1898, No. 821.

The Introduction to the true understanding of the whole Arte of Expedition in teaching to write. Intermixed with rare discourses of other matters, to shew

{ the possibilitie of skill in teaching, and probabilitie of succeſse in learning, } to write in 6 hours.

Which tending all to one end, doe serve for two vses,

1. If Authors doe excell others in their owne Artes, why may not this Author excell others in his Arte ?

2. For removing a vulgar opinion against his native country of Scotland, he sheweth that it hath moe excellent Prerogatives than any other Kingdome.

Where-by it will rather follow, that a Scotchman is so much the more able to prosecute whatsoever hee vndertaketh, and therefore so much the more to be respected, by how so much more he is more ingenious than one of another nation. Anno Dom. 1638. 4^o. A, 2 ll: B—F 2 in fours. Dedicated to Charles, Prince of Wales.

The Pilgrim's Progress. . . . 1678. 8° With a portrait by R. White (?), in which the City in the background is described as Vanity instead of Destruction, an alteration made for the third, if not for the second, edition.

The impression of the print in the copy sold at Sotheby's rooms, May 9, 1901, for the totally unjustified price of £1475, though in indifferent state, was remarkably fine and clear, and does not seem to have been employed before. The presence of a portrait in the edition was a new bibliographical revelation, as all the other known copies are without it; but the defective condition of this one only shews the liability to disappearance in the case of so popular a book. In the copy belonging to the British Museum the leaf before title is a blank composed of the same paper, Mr. Wilson informs me, as the rest of the book, so that the print may not have been added, till a portion of the edition was sold.

DANIEL, SAMUEL.

Works in Poetry . . . 1623.

In a sale at Sotheby's, May 26, 1893, No. 595, occurred a copy of this volume with a dedication "To the Right Noble Lady, the Lady Marie, Comtesse Dowager of Pembroke," from the 4^o of 1609, instead of the right one by John Daniel.

Drammaticke Poems. Written by Samuell Daniell Esquire, one of the Groomes of the most Honorable Prive Chamber to Queene Anne. Aetas prima . . . London, Printed by T. Cotes, for Iohn Waterson, at the signe of the Crowne in Pauls Churchyard. 1635. 4°.

A reissue of the dramas, from the unsold stock of 1623. Hodgson's, June 29, 1900, No. 1178, £4. 15s. Believed to be the only copy known, and to be identical with that mentioned in the Hand-book, 1867, which was once Halliwell's.

Delia. / Containing / certaine Son / nets: with the / complaint of Ro- / samond. / Aetas prima ca / nat Veneres postre- / ma tumult- / tus. / 1592. / At London, / Printed by J. The title is in an architectural compartment, and appears to have been inserted in the Tanner copy, which has no other preliminaries.

Delia. / Contayning certayne / Sonnets: with the / complaint of / Rosamond. / Aetas prima canat Veneres / postrema tumultus. / At London, / Printed by I. C. for Si- / mon Waterson, dwelling in / Pauls Church-yard at / the signe of the Crowne. / 1592. / 4°. A, 2 ll: B—M in fours. Malone Coll.

A short list of Errata is on the back of the title. Dedicated to Mary, Countess of Pembroke. The marks above indicate the linear arrangement.

Weighing the evidence collected by Collier

(Bibl. Cat. i. 170-1), I have ventured to come to a different conclusion from that eminent antiquary as to the sequence of the impressions of Delia (with Rosamond) in 1592. I incline to the opinion that the Malone copy is the earliest both of the Delia and the Rosamond, because the 23 stanzas added to the latter are retained in the reprints made during Daniel's life, and were therefore arguably added to the 4^o in the Devonshire collection rather than withdrawn from the Bodleian one, formerly Malene's. I would place the three issues of the year thus:—

1. Malene copy.
2. Devonshire copy, with 50 Sonnets and the title in an arabesque compartment.
3. Third 4^o, with title in an architectural compartment, and 54 Sonnets.

Englands Helicon

*Casta placent superis,
Para cum ceste renite,
Et manibus puris
Sumite fontis aquam.*

At London, Printed by I. R. for Iohn Flasket, and are to be sold in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Beare. 1600. 4°, 100 leaves or A—Bb in fours, title on A 2. Br Museum (Corser's copy), Bodleian (Malone's and Crynes's books, both complete), and Locker Coll. (2 copies, one wanting the last leaf.)

The Museum copy is also deficient of the last leaf. Dr. Webster, in 1690. Major Pearson, in 1788, probably the Harleian copy, and extremely tall and fine, £5. 10s., resold Steevens, in 1800, £11. 15s., bought by Malone. Sotheby's (Wolffeston), 1856, unbound and wanting last leaf, £31, resold Corser, £42, bought for the British Museum. In the Osterley Park sale, 1885, a copy much stained, but complete, occurred; it is, I believe, one of the copies now in Locker Coll. Mr. Collier cites, and perhaps possessed, another wanting five leaves. The other Locker one was in B. M. Pickering's Catalogue for 1857 at £18. 18s., having been bought by him in a sale for £1. Whether any of the above are identical with the Harleian, is uncertain, as it is whether that and Dr. Webster's were the same.

With an introductory sonnet addressed to John B. de Ham the Editor by A. B., whom I take to be the Anthony Biddington of Warrington, who owned the 4th MS. now Addit. MS. B.M. 34064, on the fly-leaf of which he has written his name and the date 1596. Some of the poems there found are common to England's Helicon.

George Pattison's taking the Turks, and setting them on their own Shoar. London, Printed for Ben. Clark, in George-yard, in Lombard-street, 1680. 4^o, A—C in fours, C 4 blank.

The postscript is by Lurting, who addresses at the conclusion from "Liverpoole, the 30 of the fifth month, 1680"—perhaps the earliest citation of the city in this way; in 1680 it was little more than a collection of hovels on a sandbank. There is an account of it, as it appeared in 1704, which represents it as still very humble and obscure.

At the end of Lurting's portion is this passage: "When we came home to England, the King came to the Vessels side, and enquired an Account, the which the Master gave him."

The earliest dwellings in Liverpool were clustered about St. Nicholas's Church, which was then nearer to the water than it now is.

The 2. is in the thrid cap the 1. vers and the 2. line to witt.

Wheir was the wounded Loyaltie now gone.
This sindrie vther falts as but asweh at is tealine for without, (and vther Scots words which I haue rather chused to pas, then lose a sound runing line) I dout not but the reader will excuse in respect that this booke was printed in ane vther contrey wheir the setters did not understand the Langage."

From the date of the imprimatur above given, and the terms of the title, it may be perhaps assumed that there was an earlier (and perhaps Edinburgh) edition.

HEYWOOD, JOHN.

A merry play betweene the Pardoner and the frere / the curate and neybour Prutte. [Colophon:] Imprynted by Wyllyam Rastell, the .v. day of Apryll / the yere of our lorde. m. ccccc. xxxiiij. Cum priuilegio. Small folio, A—B in fours = 8 leaves. Duke of Devonshire (the Dyson, Nassau, and Heber copy).

No other known; the present, with the autograph of Humphrey Dyson on title, came, no doubt, with many other rare items, to him from the library of Richard Smith, Secondary of the Poultry Compter. Nassau, 1824, £21, resold Heber, 1834, £12. 5s. Reprinted by Mr. Child in "Four Old Plays," 1848, and in Hazlitt's Dodsley, 1874, vol. i. The piece, though not apparently printed till 1533, was written in or before 1521, as the pontiff Leo X. is cited as living.

A merry play betweene Johan the husbände / Tyb his wyfe / & syr Jhân the preest [This is a head line in four lines, there being no regular title. At the end:] Imprynted by Wyllyam Rastell / the .xii. day of february the yere of our lord. m. cccco. and .xxxiiij. Cum priuilegio. Folio, A—B in fours. Bodleian (Ashmole).

[London, W. Rastell, 1533?] Folio, A⁴: B⁴: C⁴: D⁶ (?) St. John's College, Oxford (last leaf wanting).

This copy, the only one known, ends imperfectly on D 5, D 6 having had probably the conclusion and the colophon. In the Handbook, 1867, I gave the latter at second-hand—I forget from what source. The Oxford copy, formerly belonging to Nathaniel Crynes, may have once had the final leaf. No copy appears ever to have been sold by auction.

Two hundred Epigrammes, vpon two hundred prouerbes, with a thyrd hundred newly added and made by John Heywood. Anno Christi. M.D.L.V. [London, in the House of T. Berthelet?] Sm. 8^o, A—E 2 in eights. B.M.

This copy wants E 1-2, which are supplied in MS. from another edition. But the imprint appears to be wanting at the end, unless this and the next article were printed together, which scarcely seems probable.

A fourth hundred of Epygrams. Newly inuented and made by John Heywood. Londini. Anno Christi. 1560. Sm. 8^o, A—C 2 in eights. [Col.] Imprinted at London in Fleetestrete in the house late Thomas Berthelettes. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum. B.M.

Sotheby's, Feb. 6, 1893, No. 358, a copy with
MSS. notes, chiefly in Latin, ascribed to Milton.

. A most interesting copy of this work, the numerous neatly written manuscript notes in the margin of which are ascribed to JOHN MILTON.
They are generally in Latin, but some are in English. Milton's "Areopagitica" appeared two years after Sir Richard Baker's work, "P'Allegro" and "il Penseroso" in 1645, "Tenure of Kings," and "Eikonoklastes" in 1649, in which year Milton became Latin Secretary to Oliver Cromwell. That Milton's knowledge of Tacitus was comprehensive and exact is evidenced by a passage in the Defence of the People of England against Salmasius (1654), where he says "You cite this passage as if Tacitus had said it himself . . . you leave out nothing that you could find in a Baker's or Barber's shop.
. . . If you had read Tacitus and not transcribed some loose quotations out of him. . . ."—*Note

Sotheby's, Dec. 8, 1897 (Ashburnham), No. 2461, bound up with Marco Polo and Ludolf von Suchen. The following note is appended:

These three exceedingly rare editions are all printed with the same types, and the signatures show that they were originally issued as one book as in this volume. The Marco Polo, however, which is the First Latin Edition, is hardly ever found with the other two works. They are probably productions of the Press of Gerard de Leeuw of Antwerp, about 1485.

Sotheby's, March 4, 1899, No. 1814, perfect, but wormed, £26. A second, wanting title and Calendar, and last leaf, and having the leaf De laude, &c., defective, was in Ashburnham (Dec. 6, 1897, No. 2055), and brought £20.

On the last leaf of the former copy in the sell of the woodcut device occurred the probably coeval autograph of Richard Lahorn. This liturgy in a complete state is rare to excess, and is peculiarly interesting and remarkable as being for the two uses of Salisbury and York. Service books for the latter are known to be infinitely more uncommon than those for Salisbury.

RHODOCANAKIS, CONSTANTINE, of Chios or Seio.

Alexi-Cacvs. Spirit of Salt of the World, which vulgarly prepar'd is call'd The Spirit of Salt. Or The transcendent Virtue of the true Spirit of Salt Long look'd for, And now Philosophically prepared and purified

. . . By Constantine Rhodocanaces, Grecian of the Isl of Chios, and one of his Majesty's Chymists, who is the sole authour and inventor of this Spirit. Living in London, next door to the Three Kings Inne in Southampton Buildings, near the King's Gate in Holborn. . . . This fifth Edition is enlarged with some new Testimonies, Advertisements and rare Medicaments. By His Majesties Special Direction and Allowance. London, Printed by I.K. in the Year, 1667. 4^o, A—D in fours. B.M.

He is presumably the "one Constantine, a Grecian," whom Mr. Jesse (London, 1871, iii., 321) takes to have been the founder of the Grecian Coffee house in Devereux Court, Strand. At p. 21 of edit. 1667 occurs a list of persons, who had the specific on sale, and the author says: "This Spirit is to be had in several Glasses sealed with the Rose and Eagle, with 3 Greek Letters, K. P. X. And about the Seal, Verus Spiritus Salis."

This Rhodocanakis, ancestor of Prince Rhodocanakis of Manchester, is said to have made £30,000 out of the introduction of muriatic acid as an antidote for the Plague. One of this family, who claimed to be descended from the imperial line at Constantinople, used, it was mentioned to me by Dr. Garnett of the British Museum, to write with purple ink.

SHAKERLY, , Inglese.

La Gvida Romana Per tutti i Forestieri che vëgono per vedere le antichità di Roma, a vna per vna in bellissima forma & breuita. [Col.] Stampata in Roma per Antonio Blado Stâpator Cam. l'anno M. D. LXII. 8°.

This curious guide or handbook for travellers in Rome forms an appendix to one of the numerous editions of Le Cose Maravigliose di Roma; it commences on E 4 with the title above given, and continues to the end, forming 16 leaves or E, 4; F, 8: G, 4. There is a prefatory address to the readers, in which the author expresses no hope of praise or reward; he speaks of "nostri Inglesi"; and subscribes himself "Scha Kerlay Inglese." A certain Peter Shakerly published at London an English version of Ecclesiastes. See Mr. W. M. Voynich's Eighth List, 1902, No. 3184.

SHAKESPEAR, WILLIAM.

Venus and Adonis. . . . London, Printed by J. H. and are to be sold by Francis Coules in the Old Bailey without Newgate. 1630. Sm. 8°, A—D 4 in eights, D 4 blank. Bodleian.

Passionate Pilgrim. . . . 1599.

On the flyleaf facing title occurs at top: "Tho: Martin. Anne Shute," and below, in a different hand, apparently of 1740; "Shakespeare was a Wool-comber," &c. At the end, referring to the Venus and Adonis, 1620, bound up with the P.P., is written: "Not quite perfect, see 4 or 5 leaves back. So it cost me but 3 Halfpence." In the top right-hand corner of the same leaf is: "W. B.," probably the writer and owner of 1740. A small portion of a leaf of the V. and A. is torn off.

The Passionate Pilgrime. Or Certaine Amorous Sonnets, betweene Venus and Adonis, newly corrected and augmented. By W. Shakespere. The third Edition. Where-vnto is newly added two Loue-Epistles, the first from Paris to Hellen, and Hellen's answer backe againe to Paris. Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612. Sm. 8°, A—H in eights, A 1 and H 8 apparently blank. Bodleian (Malone).

The title-page is slightly mutilated. There is no preliminary matter. This volume appears to have been acquired by Malone in 1755. The portion by T. Heywood begins on D 5 and continues to the end. On C 3 occurs a new title: Sonnets To sundry notes of Musicke. At London Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612.

[Another title-page.] The Passionate Pilgrime. Or Certaine Amorous Sonnets. . . . The third Edition. . . . Printed by W. Iaggard. 1612.

Bound up with the Malone copy of the other issue. No more is known. The name of Shakespeare does not occur here.

The Historie of Henry the Fourth: . . . Newly corrected, By William Shake-Speare. London, Printed by John Norton, and are to be sold by Hvgh Perry, . . . 1639. 4°, A—K in fours.

As you like yt, a booke.

Licensed on August 4, 1600, separately; and in the list at the end of The Old Law, 4°, 1656, this is mentioned with "All's Well that ends well," as if both were then in print by themselves.

To this copy is annexed an engraved title dated 1647, belonging to a later edition, yet the book is in the original sheep cover.

Tachygraphy. The Most Exact and Compensious Method. . . . London, Printed by S. Simmons, . . . 1671. Sm. 8°, A—D 4 in eights, including an engraved title.

SHEPHERDS.

The kalendayr of the shyppars. [This is in two lines, and beneath commences the Table. At the end:] Heyr endyth the kalendar of shyppars translatyt of franch i englysh to the lowyng of almyghty god & of hys gloryows mother mary and of the holy cowrt of hywyn prentyt i parys the .xxiii. day of iuyng oon thowsand. cccc. & iii. Folio, a—m in eights, m 8 probably occupied by a device or other woodcut, but deficient in both the known copies. With numerous fine woodcuts borrowed from various sources. Duke of Devonshire (the Roxburgh copy) and Spencer-Rylands Coll. (very imperfect).

Probably from the press of Verard, or printed for him. The translator was a Scot. The type is very peculiar.

Reproduced in photographic facsimile, with a bibliographical and critical introduction and a reprint of Pynson's edition of 1506, by H. O. Sommer, royal 8°, 1892. It seems to be likely that the translator was the same Scot, who executed the version printed by Verard at Paris in 1503 of the Ars Moriendi.

Here begynneth the Kalender of Sheparden. [This is over a page-woodcut. At the end occurs:] Imprynted in Pooles chyrch yarde at the signe of the thre [kings by Julyan N]otary the yere of our lorde a. M. ccccc. & . . . Folio, A—N in eights. Huth Coll., Loeche Coll., and Bodleian (all imperfect).

No copy having the complete colophon is known. Mr. Sommer, in his admirable reproduction of the editio princeps of 1503, has assigned a reasonable ground for ascribing this edition to 1513 or thereabout.

The kalēder of shepherdes. [This is over a woodcut of two shepherds. At the end:] Thus endeth y Kalender of Shepeherdes / newly translated out of Frennshe in to englysshe. Imprynted at London / in y Flete strete / at the sygne of the sonne by Wynkyn de Worde / in the yere of our lorde. M. ccccc. & .xxviij. The .xxiiij. daye of Ianuary. The .xix. yere of oure moste redoubted and naturall lorde kynge Henry the .viii. 4°, A—Y in eights and fours. Bodleian (Douce) and Britwell.

Both these copies are imperfect.

Heere Beginneth the Kalender of Shepheards: Newly augmented and corrected. Printed at London by V. S. assigned by Thomas Adams. [Circa 1600.] Folio, A—N 4 in eights. Britwell.

Heere Beginneth the Kalender of Sheepehards: Newly Augmented and Corrected. [No place or printer's name, but probably about 1600, under the same assignment.] Folio, A—L in eights: M, 6: N, 8. Bodleian.

SHEPPARD OR SHEPHEARD, SAMUEL.

The Famers Fam'd Or An Answer to two Seditious Pamphlets, the one Intituled The Just Man in Bonds, the other A Pearle in a Dunghill, written in the behalfe of that notorious Lyar, and Libeller John Lilburne. . . . London, Printed for John Hardesty, . . . 1646. 4°, A—D in fours.

Epigrams. . . . 1651.

The engraved title to this volume contains in the lower compartment what is evidently intended for a portrait of the author, seated in a chair, handling the Muse of Poetry his volume, and receiving from her a garland. The book is interesting from its notices of writers, of the author and his connections, and of other persons.

Mercurius Elencticus.

Sheppard, in his Poems, 1651, p. 150, sign. M 3, has some verses, which intimate that he was committed to prison for writing this production, of which I have not seen a copy. Possibly it was suppressed, unless it is identical with Momus Elencticus, a poem inserted in some copies of Robert Fletcher's Martial, 1656.

SHERINGHAM, ROBERT, of Caius & Gonvill Coll., Cambridge.

Mulier timens Dominum, ipsa laudabitur.
Prou. 3.

Permissu Superiorum. M. DC. XXVII. 4°. * 4 leaves: A—F in fours. Dedicated by C. F. "To the Right Honorable Antony-Maria, Viscount Montague, My very good Lord, and Mayster." B.M. (the Bindley and Heber copy.)

On the title of this copy, with the bookplate of James Bindley and the stamp of R. Heber, occur the early autographs: "Anne Caluert and Elizabeth Caluert her Booke. Lady Montague was the daughter of Lord Dacre (of the North or of Gillesland) by the daughter of the celebrated Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury. She was born at Naworth Castle, Cumberland, in 1538. She died at Battle, in Sussex, in 1608, and was buried at Midhurst.

At sign. C 2^{ro} occurs the following passage: ". . . whilles she liued a mayd of honour in the Court, on a tyme King Philip who had maryed Queene Mary, youthfully opened a window; where by chance she was washing her face, and sportingly putting in his arme, which some other would perhaps have taken as a great honour, and rejoiced therat, she knowing that the condition of virgins was not vnlike vnto flowers, which with the least touch doe loose of their beauty, hauing more regard of her owne purity, then of the Kings Maiesty, she tooke a staffe lying by, and strongly stroke the King on the arme. Which fact the prudēt King did not only take without offence, but it was the increase of her honour and esteeme."

Ainsworth, in his Cardinal Pole, has suggested that Philip was addicted to gallantries with the ladies of the Court.

The main poem ends on Oo 8. On Pp occurs "A Letter of the Authors expounding his whole intention in the course of this worke: which for that it glueth great light to the Reader, for the better understanding is hereunto annexed. To the Right noble, and Valorous, Sir Walter Raleigh knight, Lo. Wardein of the Stanneryes, and her Maiesties liefetenaunt of the County of Cornewayll." This is dated: 23. January, 1589. By "Yours most humbly affectionate. Ed. Spenser." The epistle is followed by pp. 596-600 with sonnets by Raleigh (2), Hobynoll, R. S., H. B., W. L., and Ignoto. Then come five leaves with Sonnets addressed by Spenser to Hatton, Barleigh, the Earls of Oxford, Northumberland, Cumberland, Essex, and Ormond and Ossory, Lord Howard of Effingham, Lord Hunsdon, Lord Grey of Wilton, Lord Buckhurst, Sir F. Walsingham, Sir John Norris, Sir Walter Raleigh, the Countess of Pembroke, Lady Carew, and "all the gracious and beautifull Ladies in the Court." On the back of this leaf occur the Errata.

Sotheby's, May 11, 1898, No. 3463, in the original calf binding, with the initials E. C. on either side of the gold impress in centres. Was this the copy which belonged to Lady Elizabeth Carew or Cary, to whom one of the sonnets is addressed, and who wrote the Tragedy of Mariam, 4°, 1613?

Puttick & Simpson, June 19, 1894. An unpublished MS. or perhaps a portion of one, for there is no title-leaf, except one in a later hand, where the Elegy on Gustavus Adolphus (1632) is wrongly ascribed to Charles X. (1660) The lines are divided to suit the narrow page. Taylor subscribes the second piece thus: "Yor highnes most humbly devoted John Taylor." The water-poet does not seem to have been writing, or at least publishing, much about this date.

The Trivmphs of Fame and Honovr: or The Noble Accomplish'd solemnity, full of TESTAMENT, THE NEW.

In 1527 Archbishop Warham bought up all the copies he could procure of Tyndale's work, and appears to have been assisted in defraying the cost by other prelates (see Ellis's Orig. Letters, 3rd S., ii. 86—7). In 1529, Bishop Tunstall did the same in respect to a later edition or later editions during his stay at Antwerp—probably for this purpose. Warham laid out at least £66 9s. 4d., which represents a very large number of copies. The destruction must have been almost exhaustive. Of the original, suppressed by Warham, we learn that 3000 copies were printed; it is the one probably meant by Edward Lee in his Letters to Wolsey (Ellis's O. L. 3rd S., ii. 71—2). The Grenville fragment may be the same as is mentioned in Nichols's Literary Illustr., v. 363, as having once belonged to Francis Peck. Of the second edition, Worms, 1525—6, small 8°, the Harleian copy, wanting only the title, cost Lord Oxford £21; it is valued in Osborne's Catalogue at 15s.

The newe Testament yett once agayne corrected by Wyllyam Tyndale: where vnto is added a necessarye Table: Wherin easely and lightelye may be foude any storrye contaynd in the foure Euangelistes / and in the Actes of the Apostles. . . . BALDWIN, WILLIAM.

Beware the Cat. . . . 1561, 1570, 1584.

In the dedication to John Yung, prefixed to the impression of 154, Baldwin refers to this work as a reduction to book-form of one of the stories related at Court last Christmas, by Master Streamer, or Stremer, who appears to have been the author of a play called Æsop's Crow, which the King's Players are said, in the Argument before this same publication (Beware the Cat), to be rehearsing. We are unacquainted even with the edition of the latter dated 1561; it exists solely, I believe, on the authority of Ritson; but it seems clear that there were issues, or an issue, in the reign of Edward VI., if not of Henry VIII., when George Ferrers was Master of the King's Majesty's Pastimes, as Baldwin, in the Argument, designates him. See my Prefaces, Dedications, and Epistles, 1874, 66-69-75.

BERKLEY or BARCLAY, SIR

The Lost Lady. A Tragy Comedy. Imprinted at London by Jo. Okes for John Colby, and are to be sold at his Shop, at the Signe of the Holy Lambe on Ludgate hill. 1639. Folio, B—N, 2 leaves each: O, 3 leaves (O 4 probably blank) + title page.

Reprinted in Hazlitt's Dodsley, xlii. The original text is very inaccurate, probably from the absence of the author abroad. Dodsley, who included the piece in his first edition, seems to have had the use of a copy, now before me, with numerous corrections by Sir Thomas Hanmer, the Shakespearean scholar. But he has not carried them out in all cases.

A Perfect Description of Virginia: being, A full and true Relation of the present State of the Plantation, their Health, Peace, and Plenty: the number of people, with their abundance of Cattell, Fowl, Fish, &c. with severall sorts of rich and good Commodities, which may there be had, either Naturally, or by Art and Labour. Which we are faine to procure from Spain, France, Denmark. . . . There having been nothing related of the true estate of this Plantation these 25 years. Being sent from Virginia, at the request of a Gentleman of worthy note, who desired to know the true State of Virginia as it now stands. Also, A Narration of the Countrey, within a few dayes journey of Virginia, West and by South, where people come to trade: being related to the Governour, Sir William Berkeley. . . . With the manner how the Emperor Nichotawance came to Sir William Berkeley. . . . London, Printed for Richard Wodenoth, at the Star under Peters Church in Cornhill. 1649. 4°, B—D 2 in fours + title-page and leaf with royal arms.

R.* and pillars, on which are scrolls bearing date 1549 and Vivat Rex. Above the engraving is: O Lord for thy mercyes sake, saue the Kyng, and below: Fearre God, and honour the Kyng.

Mainly Taverner's version or text, with certain corrections by Becke. But in the Apocrypha are material variations, as fully pointed out by Mr. Dore in his Old Bibles, 1888. The final leaf appears to be of the utmost rarity, and to be known only hitherto in the copies at St. Paul's and St. John's College, Cambridge. In the present one it is inlaid

JACK THE COBBLER.

Jack the Cobler's Caution to His Country-Men. London, Printed for T. S. in the Year, 1682. A folio leaf.

JACOBUS DE VORAGINE.

The Golden Legend. . . . Folio. Two cols. Woodcuts.

Sotheby's, July, 1895. Title and two last leaves wanting, green morocco, g.e. Sold with all faults, £28. This copy commenced, according to the Catalogue, with the Life of Adam on fol. I. [? ll.] and proceeded to fol. LlII.; then occurred The Advent of Our Lord, beginning on folio primo, and finishing on fol. CCCLXXXII. There were 46 lines to a full column. The book was unscrubbed by the auctioneer to the press of W. de Worde at Westminster. A second copy in old calf, deficient of 17 leaves, including title and end, appeared in Sotheran & Co.'s catalogue for December, 1902. A third, also imperfect, is in the British Museum. All these copies belong to some impression about 1515—25, hitherto unidentified; and it seems to be an open question whether it was one issued by De Worde or by Peter Treveris in Southwark, as there was clearly no exclusive copyright in the work. It might be even later than 1527, and a production of Robert Redman, who reprinted many of Pynson's publications.

A complete copy of the present issue should apparently contain: a—z in eights: three sheets of eight irregularly signed; aa—yy in eights. The Table begins on folio ii, after a title-leaf. z 8 is properly folio clxxxiv., but is misprinted clxxxii. aa begins on folio ccix. The book concludes with the Life of St. Erasmus, which, in the copies of 1895 and that in the hands of Sotheran & Co., breaks off imperfectly.

Hodgson & Co., Feb. 18, 1903, No. 374. Eight cropped and mutilated leaves, some in duplicate, including first and last, taken from the binding of a volume, with two others belonging to a metrical tract printed by W. de Worde on marriage or love, of early Italian pieces of a popular character. I do not know whether Nicholas the Grave, or Graf, is identical with Nicole Comte, a French printer about this date, or is connected with him. The tracts relative to marriage here found resemble those printed by W. de Worde about this time on the same subject.

SHAKESPEAR

BY

W. CAREW HAZLITT.

Second Edition, Revised. With Important Additions.

The present volume is probably entitled, whatever its individual merits and value may be considered to be, to the credit of being wholly on new and independent lines; and after all the researches and conclusions of the editors and critics, it aims at placing in a fresh and very different light many of the most important features in the biography and literary history of the Poet. The book is the result of a considerable amount of labour and thought, and owes a share of its claim to attention to the wide and varied reading and studies of the author, and to his lengthened bibliographical experience. It deals with all the difficult and perplexing problems which have arisen, and exist, in connection with the life and productions of Shakespear, the first knowledge of London, the history of the Sonnets, the relations between Shakespear and Bacon, those between the former and his family, the deer-stealing affair, and the final removal to London; and it unavoidably conflicts at several points with the statements and opinions of other workers in this field. The new Essay, which is not a regular Biography, but rather a Biographical Excursion, seeks to place the private and professional career of our national Poet on a new footing, in considerable measure by the collation of scattered facts and allusions, and the presentment of many circumstances in fresh points of view.

The keen and enduring interest in all that concerns Shakespear, even to the most trivial and indirect particulars, throughout the world, ought to secure for the present publication an indulgent, if not a favourable, acceptance.
